

Rules for use of ICMA member forum

All members must agree to these rules before being allowed access to the Forum. Your approval will be kept on file.

Any member who submits content that does not abide by these rules may be removed from the forum permanently.

- a. Be professional. Harmful comments about other individuals, companies, products or services will not be allowed.
- b. Members of the ICMA are refrained from discussing on this forum the financial aspects of their business pertaining to disclosure of prices, profits, commissions, discounts, purchase agreements, contracts, costs or any other matter which could be construed as causing injury to a competitor or of unreasonably restraining trade.
- c. Do not disclose sensitive, proprietary, confidential, or financial information about companies, other than what is publicly available.
- d. Respect copyrights. For your protection, do not post any material that is copyrighted unless (a) you are the copyright owner, (b) you have written permission of the copyright owner to post the copyrighted material on your blog, or (c) you are sure that the use of any copyrighted material is permitted by the legal doctrine of "fair use."
- e. Obey the law. Posts may not be used for the purpose of posting any material that is obscene, defamatory, profane, libelous, threatening, harassing, abusive, embarrassing to another person or entity, or violates the privacy rights of another. Also, do not post material that may contain viruses, Trojan horses, worms, or any other computer code that is intended to damage or interfere with any system, data, or information.